Dear Residents' Families,

We're beginning to see the end of the tunnel! On Wednesday, the Isolation was lifted for the second and third floor Residents. What a joy to be able to pass by their rooms, with the doors now open, and give a wave or say a "Hello"!

While most staff tested negative on Monday, and Residents tested negative on Tuesday, one employee did test positive. However, she has been out on leave since middle January so we do not need to isolate the Residents. Hopefully, in the not too distant future, the Little Sisters in the units will be able to let you know when visitation is possible

The Residents did well after receiving the second dose of the Covid-19 vaccine. CVS will be here on Monday, January 15, to administer the second dose to those of our staff who have already received the first dose. They will also give the first dose to some employees who have now consented to being vaccinated. However, those who receive a first dose on the 15th will have to make an appointment with CVS for their second dose.

It seems that the groundhog saw his shadow. If tradition is correct, we have six more weeks of winter! If the beginning of this week is any indication of what is to come, we'd better keep our shovels ready!

As we all know, Sunday is Superbowl Sunday. Any of the Residents who are interested in the Superbowl have a front seat for watching it on TV! Whether they watch it or not, our menu of finger foods will allow them bites while watching the game: mini grilled hot dogs, spring rolls with duck sauce, popsticker chicken with soy sauce, chips, etc.

Please keep the prayers coming. Keep safe! God bless.

Sincerely,
Sister Celine Thérèse
